8 次の会話文を読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。

Jack : Hey Sara and Alex, what's up?
 Sara : Hi Jack. 【 ① 】
 Jack : Wow, that's a big topic!
 Alex : Yeah, but it's not as hard as you think. Have you ever heard about "SDGs"?
 Jack : Um...No. What's that?
 Sara : It means "Sustainable Development Goals".
 Alex : Right. The goals were decided by United Nations Member States in 2015.
 Sara : The goal is to make sure that all people enjoy peace by 2030.
 Alex : Yes. We should take action to end poverty, protect the earth and...
 Jack : W... What!? 【 ② 】 Could you explain it in another way?
 Sara : It just means that we should do something we can do for our world.
 Alex : Anything small is okay. It doesn't have to be big.
 Sara : And there are 17 goals to change our world... Here, I'll show you some of them.

Jack : Okay... So, what are you trying to do?
 Alex : 【 ③ 】 I'm going to send some used clothes to Africa. Many people are poor there.
 Jack : That's a good idea! I would like to open a free restaurant someday to help people with no food.
 Sara : Good for you! 【 ④ 】
 Jack : Yes, that's right. I love cooking. I want to do that soon, because 2030 is not so far away.
 Sara : Yeah, I want to do something with education for children who can't learn enough.
 Jack : Oh, so you are interested in number (⑤), Sara.
 Alex : By the way, "Sustainable" means something that you can keep doing for a long time.
 Jack : I see. It is important for us to continue the things which we can do for the future. Never give up.
 Sara : Let's make sure we keep the world a better place for the future!

10 次の英文を読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。

英語解答

My sister, Lena, asked for an egg hunt for her tenth birthday party. Lena always gets things that she wants. She smiles beautifully and opens her green eyes wide. "Please? Can I have an egg hunt at my party?" ① Mom and Dad can never say no to her. Last year, Lena wanted to ride a pony with a heart shape on its body, like the one she saw in her favorite picture book. So Dad looked all over the country for that special pony and her wish came true.

I'm her older brother, Mark. I'm not little and cute like my sister. Anyway, she was able to have an egg hunt for her birthday. Egg hunt is a game for children to find hidden Easter eggs. We have a large backyard with many trees and flowers. It has lots of good places to hide eggs.

Lena's birthday came on a warm sunny day. She invited all her classmates. Lena gave each one of them a little basket. They were ② (ア interesting イ excited ウ unhappy エ angry) when Lena told them about the egg hunt. The girls were even happier when Lena told them that the first prize was one of those expensive American girl dolls! The boys started to grumble. Lena should have a prize for boys, too.

Lena cried, "The egg hunt begins...now!" The children all started running around. Some looked for eggs through the backyard in groups, some worked on their own.

I had to join the game because Lena said I must. I found an egg by a small rock. I picked up the egg, and dropped it into my basket, and started to look for more. But ③ I jumped when I heard a girl's loud voice.

"Ahhhhh!" I took my basket and ran to the girl. "④ They are not hard-boiled!" Her white T-shirt was dirty. The yolk was all over it. "Mom didn't have time to hard-boil them or paint them..." Lena came and said. "I know it's a little strange, but ⑤ (was / enough / there / time / not)...I'm sorry." Soon, we all started laughing.

(注) hunt 狩り beautifully 美しく pony 仔馬 hidden 隠す (hide) の過去分詞形
Easter イースター祭 backyard 裏庭 basket かご even いっそう prize 賞
grumble 不平を言う hard-boil かたゆでにする yolk 黄身、卵黄
