- 8 次の Sally と Miki の会話と看板を参考に、あとの問いに答えなさい。

Miki : We have arrived at Mido Garden.

Sally : Oh, this is a lovely building! I like this place!

Miki : Really? This is my favorite place. It is very popular among young people in Osaka.

Sally : What is that large room? There are a lot of chairs, sofas and tables in it.

Miki : The name of that room is the Green Salon, a nice room for reading, talking with friends, and having lunch. We can enjoy classical concerts at 13:00 and 15:00 (①) in a week.

Sally : Have you ever listened to the concerts there?

Miki : Yes. We can listen to classical music for free. Sometimes famous professional musicians have free concerts there. But everyone can use this salon to hold a concert.

Sally : That sounds great! I belong to the brass band club in my school. We are now looking for a place to have a concert next summer. I think that the Green Salon is the best place for us!

Miki : That's a good idea! I want to listen to your performance there.

Now I am a little hungry. Shall we eat something? I know Napoli Kitchen is a nice Italian restaurant.

Sally : Oh, I like pizza very much. But now I want to eat a hot dog.

Miki : OK. Oh, sorry, "Semba Cafe" is already closed. It's (②) now.

- 10 次の英文を読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。

Timmy and his sister Cindy fought all the time. They fought over which TV program (①). They fought over the last cookie in the box. They fought over the bathroom. Timmy was two years older. Cindy always walked and followed him and his friends because she hoped to join their games of baseball or football. But Timmy didn't like that. Cindy often felt lonely because he always told her to go back home.

They fought almost every day. One very hot summer day, their mother took them both to the doctor because they two were coughing badly, and they learned that they both had the same rare disease. They spent several weeks in the hospital. Timmy slowly started getting better. Cindy, however, was only getting worse. She became weak. Her doctor said to her parents, “② You (ア the イ for ウ to エ worst オ need カ prepare キ situation).”

But there was, the doctor said, one way to help her. Maybe if Timmy gave Cindy some of his blood – a transfusion – his blood may fight the disease. The doctor said, “I am sure his blood has already had the antibodies because he has got much better. So I think his antibodies will also help her.”

The doctor went into Timmy's room. She asked him, “Timmy, can you give your sister a blood transfusion? This may be her only chance of getting better.” The boy's face suddenly turned pale. His lower lip trembled and he almost cried. However, he fought back his tears and said, “OK, I'll do it if it saves her life.”

The doctor quickly set the equipment (③) was needed for the transfusion. Timmy opened his eyes and watched, as the red blood began to flow from his body. He turned to the doctor and said to her very quietly, “Doctor, can I ask you a question?” “Of course,” she said. “You can ask anything.” Everyone in the room became quiet. “What time will I die? And will it hurt?” The doctor looked at his parents, and all of them realized what the boy meant. Timmy believed he was giving all of his blood to his sister. He thought that the transfusion meant giving his life for Cindy's, but he wanted to save her life.

“Oh, Timmy,” his mother said and touched his face. “You are not going to die! Sweet boy, you really love your sister, (④) you?”

With her brother's help, Cindy got better, and after that, she and Timmy did not fight as much as before. Cindy also enjoyed football with Timmy when she wanted to join the game.
